

Subject: Re: Palm Tree Trimming

From: Greg Monfette <greg.monfette@lacity.org>

Date: 10/24/2014 10:34 PM

To: Donald Duckworth <duckworth.donald@gmail.com>

CC: Miki Payne2 <miki@hbdrollinger.com>, John Ruhlen <jruhlen916@aol.com>

You should avoid them anytime that you can. Some palm trees are too tall and they need to get out of the bucket and hike up to do the trimming, however, to trim normal size or small size palm trees they should not use the climbing spikes. I recommend you use a company that has aerial towers to do the work. Hope that helps.

On Oct 24, 2014 8:15 PM, "Donald Duckworth" <duckworth.donald@gmail.com> wrote:

Good Morning Greg...

We are about to trim the Mexican Palm trees in the WTC BID area. We are soliciting bids to do the work. I've heard that we should not use trimmers that climb the trees because their spikes damage them. Is that true?

We would greatly appreciate your professional guidance here.

Thanks Greg.